Jed,

So one of the cutest, sweetest, and nicest guys I know. Always remember all the fun we've had in and out of school. I am glad to call you a friend. You can be serious if any one has a problem and be crazy if it is the right time. Never forget the week of the prom, especially that Monday night. I got so many bites, I thought I had a rash. You almost had one too. Best of luck to you in the future.

CRESTLINE HIGH SCHOOL

Crestline, Ohio

Volume XXXVI

Memories are made up of many things which occur during the school life of a student.

Tangible events play a large part in the memories retained by a student through his later years, but perhaps the lasting memories are composed of those intangible happenings. Those events which brought a deeper feeling for an understanding of our fellow students.

We of the 1964 Echo staff would like to think that this book will reawaken those feelings in later years.

Mr. Grover T. Weis

We the Echoes Staff dedicate this book to a friend of the students and the school, a man who sees that many things are done for us which we take for granted: our buses for away ball games, our setups for concerts and banquets, and most of all the general upkeep of our school.

Our dedication is to you, Grover T. Weis, a friend.

DEDICATION

Mr. and Mrs. Lester Koontz

We the Echoes Staff dedicate this book to Mr. and Mrs. Lester Koontz, both graduates of Crestline High School.

To Crestline High School Dramatics, "The Koontzes" have become an integral part of the whole business of presenting a staged event. They have provided lighting advice and assistance to innumerable plays, concerts, assemblies, and gymnastic shows.

Our dedication is to you, Mr. and Mrs. Lester Koontz.

Administration

We would like to think of our teacher as a most unforgettable character. The person who made a lasting impression on our lives by setting us on the right road to a better way of life--that of education.

SCHOOL

The school is a social institution, subject to change in purpose and function as society itself changes or as ideals and practices of education change. As the school enlarges its program, powers which were formerly unnecessary become absolutely indispensable. These are facts which the court recognizes and designates as "implied powers."

The members composing a board of education have authority to act as a board when together in session, and then as a body or unit, by resolution or motion which is duly entered on the minutes.

In discharging the duties imposed on them by law, school boards have the power to make rules and regulations pertaining to the schools which are necessary for its government and the government of its employees and the pupils of the schools. A regulation must apply equally to all children, irrespective of race or color, and must not only be reasonable in itself, but its enforcement must also be reasonable in the light of existing circumstances.

In the Crestline Schools the Board of Education, working as a team with the Clerk and the administrators, makes every effort to provide the best possible education for the children of the district while conforming to their legal responsibilities and according to the best educational practices of the times.

ADMINISTRATION, FACULTY

The "memories" that we, the faculty, will put down on record for the 1963-64 student body fall into an age old category called character. Your character has been a by-product; it was produced by the great manufacture of daily duty and teamwork. The goals established at the beginning of the year required teamwork for accomplishment. As we look back, we see a major effort taken in the recognition and acceptance of our new students as one step forward. Homecoming was the result of all classes working toward a goal that honored our alumni in the true traditional spirit.

WORK TOGETHER

The mere fact that Crestline High School is made up of some 670 different personalities emphasizes the degree to which teamwork is a necessity for success. During the nine months of school, the inter-play of these personalities, led and directed by a teaching staff of thirty-one, has worked its way toward developing a sound student body founded on high moral and ethical principles, and striving to develop its minds to their fullest potential.

Let us now take this spirit and these and these principles and share them with our new society of friends. And, may the "memories" that go with you be good ones based on achievement, friendship and growth.

Academic

Students at C.H.S. enjoy a rather varied and interesting academic life. We find students as they go about preparing for life in this ever changing world in the following pages:

Sue Bryant, business education student masters the mimeograph machine.

Velma Jones find that taking dictation from a record makes shorthand easier.

STUDENTS PREPARE

These first year students may be typing their way toward a job in business or for personal use.

Mr. Bill Klopfenstein explains to Floyd Forshaw the art of using a micrometer.

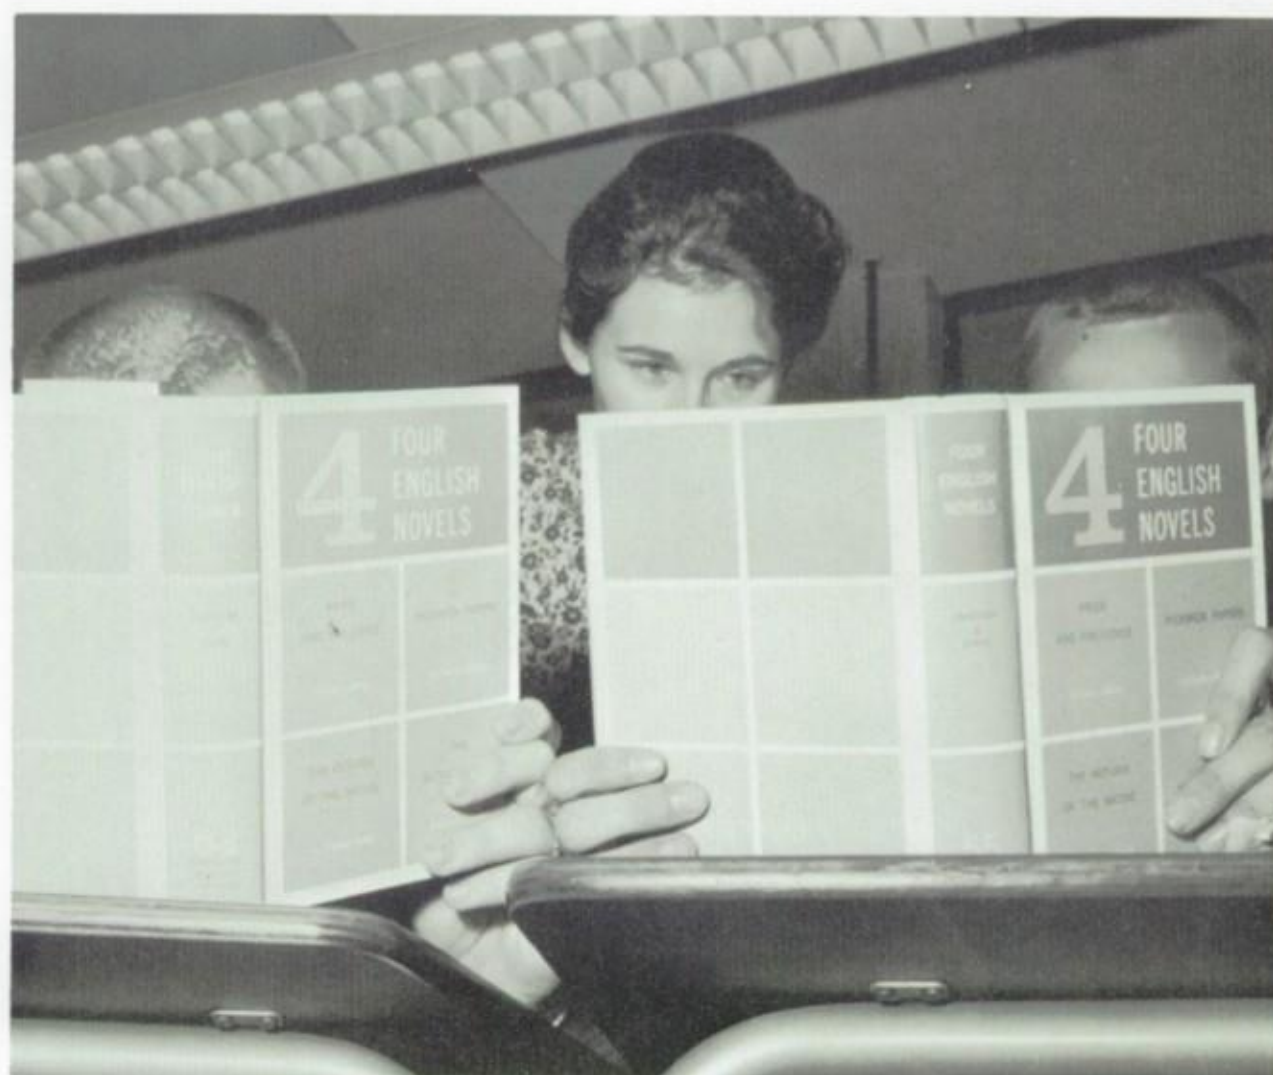

What did I do now? Jana Elmore seems to be asking Mr. Hutson.

FOR FUTURE

4 English Novels

Mrs. Leymaster gives help as two students dig deeper into the lives of literary characters from one of the novels.

Our exchange student, Fernando Piernavieja, and Jo Ann Berger talk to the spanish class. The spanish class, taught by Mrs. Marjorie Hoffman is a first this year at C.H.S.

STUDENTS FIND

Karen Mansuetti gives a speech in class while students take notes. This class teaches us how to listen as well as how to speak.

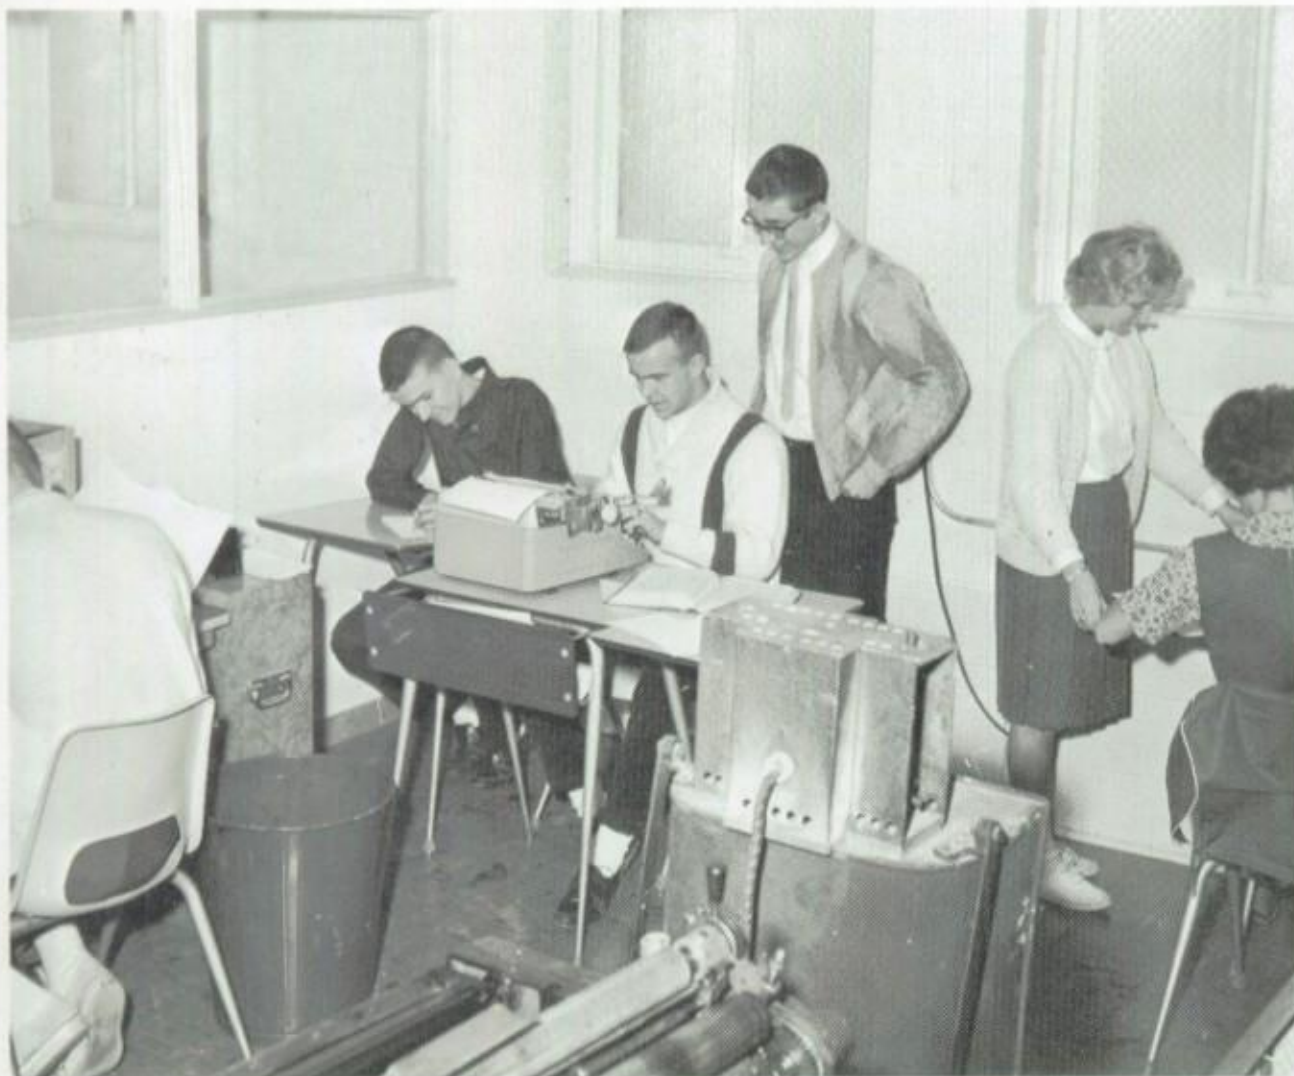

Special skills are important in this learning process. These art students find that learning how to create can be beneficial as well as fun.

LEARNING IS FUN

Girls in the Physical Education department enjoy games as well as gymnastics, and dance; Physical Education plays an important part in the mental as well as the physical make-up of our students.

ACADEMIC LIFE

Brenda Anatra finds a country on the globe in the new school library.

Junior hi students find that being in the same building with the high school students has its advantages as well as its drawbacks. Students in the seventh and eighth grade are not allowed to attend high school dances, but they have their own.

GIRLS' AND BOYS' STATE

Tom Keplinger, and Bob Peresie

Girls' State and Boys' State

Each year the American Legion and the Legion Auxiliary sponsor Boys' State and Girls' State in each of the fifth states.

The Crestline post sends two boys and two girls who are chosen by the high school faculty for their intelligence, leadership, and service.

This year Tom Keplinger and Bob Peresie attended Boys' State on the Ohio University campus, while Pat McDonough and Jana Elmore were at Capital University.

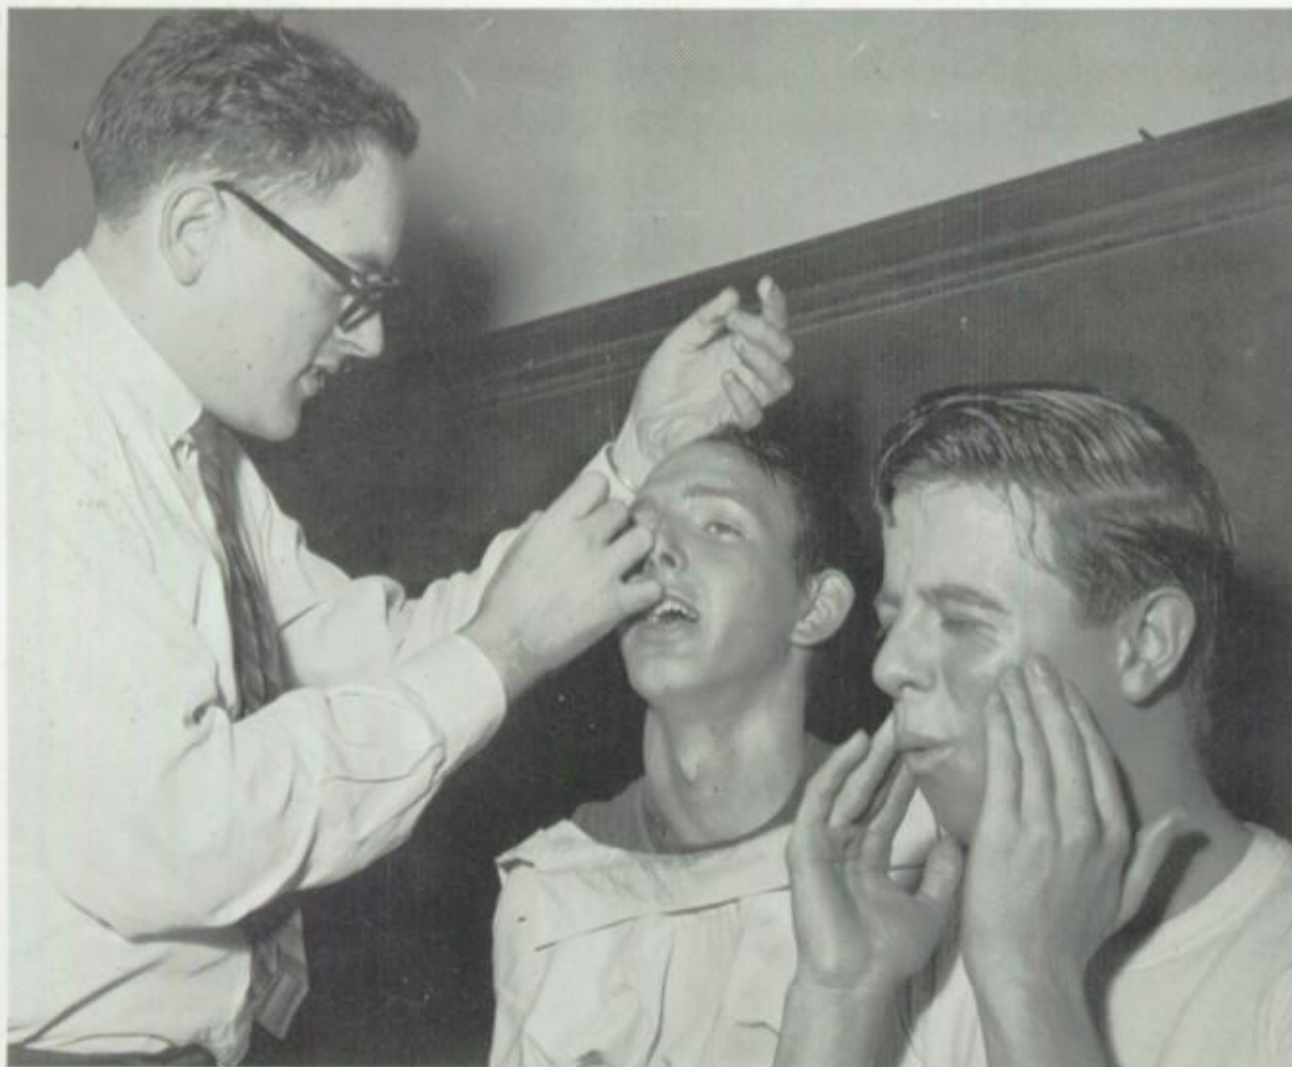

They learned about Ohio's government by actually governing the imaginary states. After the excitement, the citizens settled down to their jobs to learn by governing themselves. Officials ran from governor to fireman.

Speeches by prominent people in Ohio government added to the education gained.

In their eight days at O.U. and Capital our students gained knowledge that can be used now and in the years to come.

Mr. Wilson, applies make-up to Bill Hollenbeck and Jerry Adams.

Crestline High School's first major production of the 1963-64 academic year was an adaptation of "Rebel Without a Cause." New ideas of staging and direction (for C.H.S.) were attempted in the fourteen scene show and special lighting effects were created by Mr. and Mrs. Lester Koontz.

The dance chorus under the supervision of Mel Smith and Bill Sheehan provided two modern dance sequences.

Another new "look" in Crestline High drama was the innovation of the All-school shows rather than class plays. Students from all four classes joined forces and together presented one Crestline High School's best performances in recent years.

Following the dinner, the members had a dance to which they could invite friends. During the dance, Mary Jane Link was crowned queen, and Tom Arnett was crowned king. Mary Jane, Tom and their attendants reigned until the end of the dance.

Pat McDonough, President, speaks to the student body on opening day.

The Student Council's purpose is three-fold: to develop within the student body responsibility, initiative, leadership, unity, and school pride; to act as a liaison between faculty and students; to sponsor worthy projects.

This year's candidates for membership were selected in a different manner. They filed petitions for candidacy, pledging their support of the group's projects, and signed by thirty members of their class. From candidates, the student body elected the new members.

The largest project for the 1963-64 year was a combined effort to make Homecoming 1963 a truly alumni centered activity.

The Junior High dances were well received and helped to make the Junior High a part of the High School program. The football programs were more elaborate this year including pictures of the band, Senior football players and their fathers.

The Council again cooperated with the Crestline Chapter of American Field Service in introducing our exchange student.

The 1963 Crestline Football Team started the season with seven lettermen from the J.A.C. co-championship team of last year. However, this nucleus was soon reduced by a rash of injuries that continued for the duration of the season.

The schedule that faced this year's Crestline team was the toughest ever as five of the ten opponents posted winning records of better than 750 per cent.

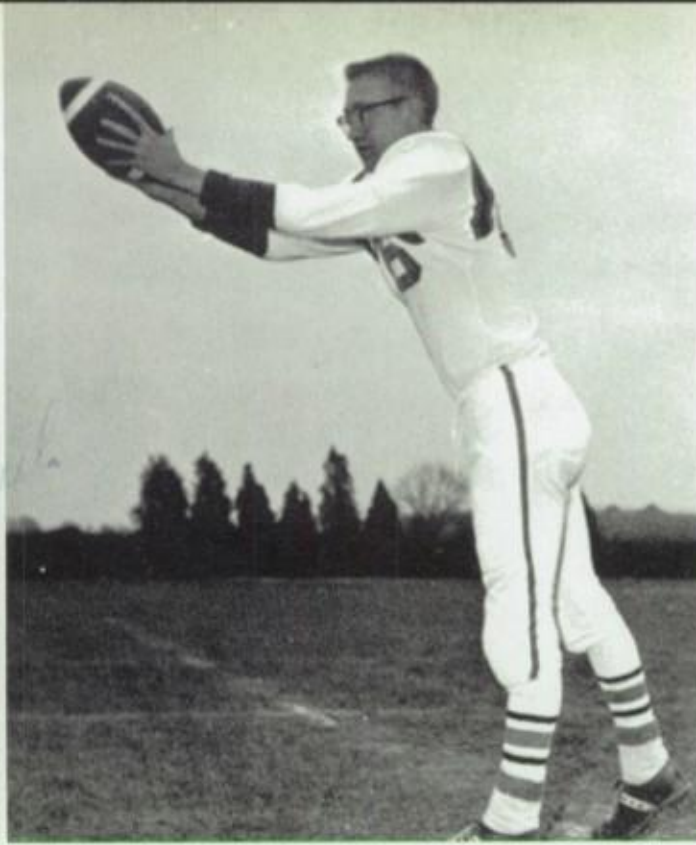

Many sophomores showed great improvement as they filled the shoes of many upperclassmen. Standouts included Dick Algire, Dave Mackey, Dave Horning, Joe O'Heron, and Tom Eich. Chuck Krichbaum was a standout on both offense and defense and was named to first team inside linebacker on the J.A.C. team. Fritz Howe and John Tesso came on strong the second half of the season with steady play.

Bill Schreck was a real crowd pleaser as he played great ball in every game. Senior co-captains Bill DeGray and Moe Ratliff fought the injury bug to make noteworthy contributions to the team effort as did moral builder Bob Rowland. A total of 10 seniors will graduate leaving the number of returning lettermen at 12.

JUNIOR HIGH: The Junior High Football team under the direction of Coach Wood and Voggenthaler finished the season with a three won three loss record. The only game Crestline was badly beaten in was the game with Col. Crawford's freshmen. Outstanding game of the season was the one with arch rival Galion with the bullpups winning out 20-14.

The 1963-64 basketball season opened with three lettermen returning. Crestline lost their first four games not able to find the shooting range. Then on December 13, the offensive punch exploded and the bulldogs soundly defeated Bucyrus 87-61.

Crestline gained runner-up position in the Christmas Tournament by defeating Col. Crawford for win no. two. The next two wins were J.A.C. victories over Plymouth and Ontario. The last seven ball games showed steady improvement in over all team and individual play.

RESERVE. The reserve basketball team at the time of publication was five wins and nine losses. The record does not speak for itself as most of the games were very close. In fact five of the nine games were lost by a total of nine points. The two best games of the season were against Galion and Upper Sandusky, with Dick Fletcher getting 14 against Galion and Roy Almanson getting 20 against Upper.

FRESHMEN. The freshman basketball team played against some very stiff opposition throughout their 1963-64 season. Against this opposition, the freshmen displayed some real talent by way of deliberate and aggressive playing to end the season on the winning side.

FRESHMEN

ROW 1: V. Hargrove, K. Thomas, T. Rowland, R. Rita, J. Berger, S. Britton. ROW 2: D. Bauer, manager, B. Blubaugh, J. Sheehan, L. Speck, E. Miller, J. Iiams, J. Horning, manager, Tom Sharpe, Coach.

8th. The eighth grade basketball team ran into a lot of exceptionally fine teams as they played a 12 game schedule and ended up with a losing season. With their size and scoring potential, the boys will be an asset to the varsity.

7th. As the yearbook went to press, the seventh grade basketball team had a perfect record of 10-0 and were expected to win the last two games of the season as they had beaten the two teams earlier. In winning their first 10 games the seventh graders showed a poised offense and defense uncommon to a Jr. High team.

7th

The 1963-64 school year saw Crestline High School initiate a varsity wrestling team into the inter-scholastic ranks. Under the tutelage of Coach Voggenthaler the novice grapplers faced such foes as Ashland, Mansfield Madison, Clearfork, Mansfield Malabar and arch-rival Ontario. In addition, the team participated in the district meet in Fremont.

Chuck Krichbaum was elected to back the team as permanent captain for the season. Before each dual meet a new co-captain was selected to help him in his duties.

The purpose of the cheerleaders of Crestline is to promote and uphold school spirit, to develop a sense of good sportsmanship among the students, and to better relationships between schools during all athletic events.

In order to create more school spirit and backing for the various teams the girls make signs for the halls and pass out slogan ribbons to the students before games. Pep assemblies are also planned and presented for the students before important games.

The man behind the scenes in all sports is the head trainer. This is a job that gets little glory, but one that requires dedication to the profession and to the students.

In order to gain the training necessary to take care of C.H.S. athletes, Mr. Fugate attends clinics at Bowling Green and Ohio State Universities and studies a great deal.

Injuries are not a part of athletics we look forward to, but which occur. Whenever an injury occurs, you can be sure the first man to the scene will be the trainer--Mr. Charles Fugate.

Things to Remember

Those of you from chemistry class will remember the above chemical symbol as the one for silica--principle raw material for ageless glass. And glass is one of today's most important products.

As you go on to college, to technical school or into business and industry, you'll appreciate more than ever how glass contributes to our pleasure, comfort and safety. This will be especially true as you become owners of automobiles.

To get the most enjoyment and satisfaction out of such ownership, remember these two rules (1) Always drive carefully and (2) Make certain your car has PPG safety glass.
